

A black and white photograph of the Polish poet Wisława Szymborska. She is seated at a table, looking slightly upwards and to the right with a gentle smile. She has short, dark, wavy hair. She is wearing a dark, patterned button-down shirt with a floral or abstract design. In her left hand, she holds a lit cigarette. In the foreground, a white coffee cup and saucer are visible on the table. The background is softly blurred, showing what appears to be a window or a piece of art.

Wisława Szymborska
Sie sollten dringend den
Kugelschreiber wechseln

Anregungen für
angehende Literaten

Suhrkamp