

The book cover features a textured, painterly illustration. In the foreground, a large, dark grey whale with a white eye and a smiling mouth is shown. A small child with dark skin and curly hair, wearing an orange shirt and teal pants, sits on the whale's back. The background consists of a teal sea and a sky with white, mountain-like shapes and a red sun. The title 'Der Gesang des Wals' is written in large, dark blue letters, and the author's name 'Karen Swann' is at the top. The publisher's name 'Insel' is at the bottom right.
