

A vintage, slightly faded photograph of a crowded train station platform. In the foreground, a man in a dark suit and a woman in a brown coat with a red shawl are prominent. They are surrounded by other people, including children and a man in a brown suit and hat. Luggage is visible on the ground. The background shows the side of a train with windows and the platform structure.

it

Leopoldo Brizuela

Nacht über Lissabon

Roman